From the Secretary

This is the last newsletter produced in Graz by the outgoing secretary. It contains again primarily an updated version of the program for the World Congress in Brisbane next month. The election for all the positions to be filled in our committee is over and I am happy to announce the result: Our next president will be Jennifer Platt, assisted by Charles Crothers, as the new secretary, and an executive committee consisting of ten more members. Congratulations to all the newly-elected. (See the details of the mail ballot on page 7).

The new executive will serve during the period of July 2002 to June 2006 and will take over the business during the forthcoming World Congress.

There are some final suggestions to be made by the outgoing secretary, mostly just reminders for the business meeting to be held on Thursday July 11, at 1:30 p.m. in Brisbane:

We will have to discuss the place where the next interim conference will be held sometimes in the first half of 2004 and it will be time too to submit topics for sessions, and other activities at this still unknown place.

We should have a debate and fortunately find a solution for two other agenda items: Banks charge now tremendous fees and we should seek alternatives to the present practice, either by starting our own credit card collections or something which works similar.

Another point for discussion will be the advisability to change from printed editions of our newsletter to an electronically distributed form, either completely or at least partly, for those members with an e-mail account. This would reduce the costs enormously and we could think about a better allocation of our funds. I will report about the financial situation of the committee during the business meeting.

Another suggestion goes into the direction of establishing our own mailing list, or starting some kind of electronic forum to distribute news and debate topics. Similar endeavors by other groups look very promising (e.g. the Cheiron mailing list is one of the most active ones) and we should think about starting something similar.

Finally I have to report that the Leo Chall Fellowship has been terminated by the Board of Sociological Abstracts, at least I didn’t hear from them after they announced an evaluation of their activities. I am really sorry about this, since during the last years our selection committee did a very good job in selecting the most promising Ph.D. candidates for this fellowship.

Finally, it’s our good tradition to arrange a dinner for all members interested to participate. You will find the details on page 6. Please register by sending me an email before July 1.

After a very long period of hard working I am happy to report that we finally were able to produce the list of Web-addresses about papers and other holdings by and about major sociologists. Many thanks to Reinhard Müller who did a tremendous job in searching for holdings. See more on page 7.
Letter from the President, No. 10: A look back and a glimpse forward: the RCHS shall live!

by Dirk Kaesler

When the membership of the RCHS elected me as your President in 1998 it was with quite some pride that I gladly followed Igor Kon, Steven Lukes, Tom Bottomore, Kurt H. Wolff and Lewis A. Coser in this office. After these four years this shall be my last Letter to you in this office. With Jennifer Platt as our new President and Charles Crothers as Secretary the RCHS shall be in very good hands for the coming years. As a member of this RC since the year 1978, as Secretary (1983-1992), Vice-President (1992-1998) and President you may understand that I regard the RCHS as a group of scholars that is dear to my heart. And therefore it is a good feeling to know that it shall prosper and flourish.

This is not the place for a lengthy look backwards. The results of these last four years are easily listed: Our sessions during the World Congress in Montréal (1998), during our Interim Conference in Torun (2000) and now during the forthcoming World Congress in Brisbane have and shall produce printed results in which the success of the RCHS is documented: The beautiful volume that came out of the Torun proceedings (Mirrors and Windows. Essays in the History of Sociology. Edited by Janusz Mucha, Dirk Kaesler, Wlodzimierz Winclawski. Torun: Nicholas Copernicus University Press 2001), the beautiful volume by Luigi Tomasi (New Horizons in Sociological Theory and Research. The frontiers of sociology at the beginning of the twenty-first century. Edited by Luigi Tomasi. Aldershot / Burlington / Singapore / Sydney: Ashgate 2001), and the special issue of International Sociology on national associations of sociology (IS, vol. 17, June 2002), together with the whole load of individual publications by the membership of the RCHS, proof that this RC has been very productive indeed.

By saying good-bye to you in this office allow me to do this with the same words I used when I welcomed you as President four years ago. Not much has changed in my personal understanding of why we as sociologists deal with the history of sociology, and why we should continue to do so.

“Sociology, some hundred and fifty years ago, set out to help human beings to observe, understand, foresee, and solve problems of their societies. Does sociology still serve these aims? And what does dealing with the history of sociology, of all themes, have anything to do with such aims? In order to sketch some of my answers to these question it might be helpful to distinguish these five questions:

(1) What has become of the 19th century programme of the sciences morales in relation to the development of academic sociology since the turn of the 20th century?
(2) Why has academic sociology distanced itself from its cause to contribute to a "moral improvement" of society?
(3) Should academic sociology reclaim the profile of a modern "moral science"?
(4) What could be the agenda for sociological intellectuals in the 21st century?
(5) Why is the sociological occupation with the history of sociology essential for the preservation of the intellectual heritage of sociology?"

By thanking the members of the RCHS for their efforts and support to deal with questions like this and to provide answers to these and other questions I wish you all the very best in your personal and academic endeavours. With my very special thanks to Christian Fleck for his enduring efforts and his successful engagement as our Secretary to whom we owe much thanks and appreciation I wish our successors as much joy in these offices and much support and encouragement by the members of the RCHS. See you all in Brisbane…

You will have to inform me before July 1, whether you will attend the dinner (any cancellations should be made before Monday July 8 during the first sessions of our committee). Just send an email to christian.fleck@uni-graz.at.
Mail Ballot Results

During March 2002 a mail ballot was held to elect the next president, the two vice-presidents, and the ten members of the executive committee.

20 out of the 269 members in good standing participated in the election. The insignificant turnout might have been caused by the fact that there weren’t much choices for the voters. The new secretary, Charles Crothers, took over office without an election because of a lack of alternative candidates.

Below you will find the details of the election. Elected candidates are in bold type.

President
- Martin Bulmer (UK) 5
- Jennifer Platt (UK) 15

Vice-President
- Martin Bulmer (UK) 10
- Christian Fleck (Austria) 18

Internet Resources for Historians of Sociology

During the business meeting in Torun we discussed the wish of a list of internet resources for our historians of sociology. Reinhard Müller from the Archiv for the History of Sociology in Austria spent during the last couple of months a lot of time to identify on the web holdings which might be of interest for the members of our research committee. We decided to start with a not too long list of outstanding sociologists by making use of books written by two members of RCHS, Lewis A. Coser and Dirk Kaesler. Coser’s Masters of Sociological Thought is still one of the widely used textbooks, and Dirk’s recently published new edition of Klassiker der Soziologie adds some more names. Additionally we consulted George Ritzer’s Blackwell Companion to Major Social Theorists to assemble a well balanced sample of major sociologists. Finally we added the names of five women to balance the gender inequality (the only two Noble laureates with a background in sociology, Jane Addams and Alva Myrdal, entered the sample only this way).

There are, as every Web aficionado knows, always troubles with regard to the accessability of URLs. Therefore we included only those who were open to everyone from everywhere. However, due to the rapid changes, there is no guarantee that the links will work in the future. To make the cut and paste of addresses easier you should use the pdf-edition of this newsletter which you will find on my personal homepage at http://www-ang.kfunigraz.ac.at/~fleck/ under Texte RCHS Newsletter. Later this year an enlarged list “Klassiker der Soziologie /Masters of Sociology” will be published on the homepage of the Archiv for the History of Sociology in Austria from where you could more conveniently browse the different holding: http://agso.uni-graz.at/

Suggestions, corrections, hints to other holdings etc. are highly welcomed. Please send an email to me or to muellerr@teleweb.at.
